There It Is – Study Finds Predominance of Antibody-Resistant SARS-CoV-2 Variants in Vaccine Breakthrough Cases in San Francisco Bay Area

October 3, 2021 | Sundance | 401 Comments

What this study finds is exactly what vaccine developer Geert Vanden Bossche (Belgium) has been predicting. The predominance of antibody-resistant SARS-CoV-2 variants in vaccine breakthrough cases from the San Francisco Bay Area, California. [\[DATA LINK HERE\]](#)

The California study finds that vaccinated individuals are more susceptible to COVID variant infections than unvaccinated. Geer Vanden Bossche has been warning that vaccine antibodies would suppress natural antibody responses. The vaccine antibodies take control of the immune system and defend only against a targeted virus.

Among vaccinated individuals, a COVID variant virus is not recognized by the specialized antibodies provided by the vaccine, and the natural antibodies have been programmed to stand down.

*(MedRxiv) Associations between vaccine breakthrough cases and infection by SARS coronavirus 2 (SARS-CoV-2) variants have remained largely unexplored. Here we analyzed SARS-CoV-2 whole-genome sequences and viral loads from 1,373 persons with COVID-19 from the San Francisco Bay Area from February 1 to June 30, 2021, of which 125 (9.1%) were vaccine breakthrough infections. Fully vaccinated were more likely than unvaccinated persons to be infected by variants carrying mutations associated with decreased antibody neutralization.

[...] These findings suggest that vaccine breakthrough cases are preferentially caused by circulating antibody-resistant SARS-CoV-2 variants, and that symptomatic breakthrough infections may potentially transmit COVID-19 as efficiently as unvaccinated infections. (read more)

Be careful around vaccinated people, because they can carry a more resistant form of COVID-19. Additionally, the highly specialized antibodies in the vaccine create a need for a booster for each antibody resistant variant. Israel is already on booster #2.

Dr. Vanden Bossche has been using Israeli data and showing how the widespread vaccination rates were creating pressure on the virus to mutate into variants with higher levels of contagion. The unvaccinated group has been keeping the pressure down by defeating the virus and carrying natural immunity. However, as the unvaccinated population is increasingly made smaller, the pressure on the virus to mutate increases. Subsequently, these mutations stay at higher or more effective levels of infection.

Israel is already on its second round of booster shots.

The long term impacts of antibody dependency are unknown. Some doctors and scientists are already worried that normal cancer fighting antibodies will become dormant and we could see an explosion of unusual cancer clusters due to antibody suppression caused by the COVID vaccines.

Remember, no one knows exactly what this targeted vaccine will do to the overall human immune system as it responds to other viruses or infections. The vaccinated population are the human trial subjects, and the unvaccinated population are the control group.

In the U.K. data study there were:

157,400 Delta variant cases amid the fully vaccinated (26.52% of total cases), and 257,357 Delta variant cases amid the unvaccinated (43.36% of total cases). However, when it came to severe outcomes 63.5% of deaths were from the fully vaccinated group. [source]

From the linked data –

This article is a preprint and has not been peer-reviewed [what does this mean?]. It reports new medical research that has yet to be evaluated and so should not be used to guide clinical practice.

The peer review on this should be interesting, to say the least. The man-made global warming crowd made a concerted effort to control the editorial and peer review process (re-visit the East Anglia email scandal). I'm sure it's a similar situation in the medical field.

I saw that re these findings not being peer reviewed. Not sure about the value of peer review. Reminds me of the 17th century Gallileo case. His peers all went ballistic and declared the sun revolved around the earth. Case closed... and if Gallileo continued to spread misinformation he would be silenced and excommunicated.

Are there peer review studies for the 3 big pharma covid "vaccines?" What are the short term affects? What are the long term affects?

Thats why there is “red tape” involved in clinical trials, to answer these very important questions and bring a safe and effective drug to the public. Even with all that in place, we can’t trust big pharma or FDA, but it is much harder to hide things over the course of 5 years with sites nationwide, tens of thousands participating in clinical trials.

I don’t blame big pharma as much as I blame Trump for giving them the keys to the hen house. What was he thinking????

We are now left to do our own research. Eyes wide open.

Well, TBH, it’s difficult to defend Trump on this vaccine issue because Trump was/is no stranger to the entire vaccine issue.

He was very “into it” several years back when it came time for Barron to receive vaccinations for various diseases. Ivanka too, more recently. He has said kids should not get the covid vax.

Trump was not opposed to vaccines per se, just the reckless way multiple vaccines were being administered to kids all at one time. I’m not opposed to vaccines either. We all got them as kids. But, vaccines seemed to be designed differently years ago... than they seem to be today.

The “old” way, as I understand it, was to inject a tiny amount of the disease itself into the person and permit the body to develop natural antibody resistance. Today, vaccines are frequently lab created synthetics capable of altering our DNA.

It’s been well over a year so President Trump has had plenty of time to READ all the available evidence from multiple doctors, virologists, vaccineologists, that we have... yet he remains silent about the censureship ... and pretty much still defends the covid “vax.”

In fact, I believe Trump admitted that he got the vax which seems ridiculous because he contracted the virus so he would have the best type of immunity– natural immunity.

Quite a few times I have been asked why I oppose the “vax” when my hero Trump got it and promotes getting it? I usually say: “Just because I support President Trump in 98% of his policies and views does not mean I, or any, of his supporters obey Trump blindly. Contrary to popular leftist opinion, Trump is not our “cult leader” and this is one proof that he’s not... because at least 1/2 of Trump supporters disagree with him re: the covid vax.

You can support President Trump, even passionately, while still disagreeing with him on certain things. The vax is one of them. He does, however, always emphasize that everyone should have the right to decide for himself/herself whether the vax is right for them. He is opposed to mandates.

To some degree, I have worried and wondered whether Trump, as potus and now, is also “controlled,” at least to some degree by the DS. No man is an island.

And TBH... some of his irrelevant, petty, childish tweets– that absolutely harmed him– are even more aggravating and annoying to me now than they were then. Then... I assumed he needed to make the hostile left media chase irrelevant rabbits down holes to DISTRACT them from trying to sabotage the important trade deals and other policies he was trying to implement for the country. Now I don’t know.

In agreement with your post on all accounts. I will add that our society has morphed into a mindset that we should do something about everything. So many vaxes we give our children are for benign diseases, like chicken pox or blood borne, like HepB. Vaxes that can be eliminated or at least delayed and spaced out. But our “busy” parents do not want to be inconvenienced by a two week illness like chicken pox.

Saw it with antibiotics. It was not uncommon for people to come to our office and say “I have a little bit of a scratchy throat and I have a trip planned, can you give me an antibiotic?”

Peer review can be like judge shopping sometimes; find a like minded publication to peer review your research.

Like any other institution, the political hacks get themselves on the boards of the credible publications and take them over.

likely it is similar, but we tend to answer the questions we ask...or the ones we are allowed to ask. somehow the collective judgement of free range humans will come to a proper opinion of what is dangerous and what is not... rather like Jefferson said about an educated citizenery. Structures do help us to think about a problem, but generally the scientific method (as opposed to 'the science') requires both deductive and inductive reasoning. Free the free range humans!

That's the "go to" for the scientism true believers: "IS IT PEER REVIEWED?" They wouldn't know peer reviewed from Shinola if it bit them in the keister, but they sure love to throw that term around.

The fact is this virus is so new, and the vaccines are even newer; there simply ISN'T much "long term" research, peer reviewed or otherwise.

... and the biblical 144,000 is not necessarily ... literal either. Revelations is predominantly allegory.

God wants us to see the... big picture but not the minute details of exactly how it will occur. That's because He wants us to trust HIM.

“Blessed are those who have not seen and yet believed.”

“We shall not know the day nor the hour.”

In other words — we must keep our lamp filled with oil (consistent faith and obedience) lest we be denied entrance to the wedding banquet when the bridegroom arrives because we were not.... spiritually and personally ready for Him (no oil in our personal lamp).

Ultimately, God does not want us to obsess about THE ... end times. He wants each of us focused on our own individual ... end time.

Zechariah 13:8—2/3 of Jews will die leaving remnant of 1/3 at Christ's return. The 144,000. `12,000 from each tribe, of Revelation 7 are Jews who are evangelizing, proclaiming the gospel during the Tribulation period if my recollection of past studies is correct.

Because the 12 tribes were from the different brothers. Judah (Jew) was just one of the 12 tribes. The 10 northern tribes that formed the kingdom of ISRAEL were scattered after being invaded by Assyria around 900 AD or so. The other 3 (Benjamin was a very small tribe and was assimilated into Judah) and the Levites formed the kingdom of JUDAH.

Together they were known as the biblical NATION of Israel. The current abomination in the land is the man made creation of the STATE of Israel and composed of 95% Ashkenazi "Jews" who are not true descendants of Judah. They are mainly eastern European in nature. Jesus twice said he came ONLY for the lost tribes of Israel, he did NOT come for Judah. So the idea that the Jews rejected him and the gentiles took their place is a fallacy. The gentiles as they are erroneously called are the descendants of the scattered 10 tribes of ISRAEL.

Wise and likely correct perspective. The "state of Israel" is not likely to be the biblical Israel of Revelations. There may be elements. I don't know. Neither do any of us know actually... because we do not need to know.

We humans are inclined to try to confine God. We naturally want specific facts about the end times b/c we want to know what to expect, how to protect ourselves.

It's not going to be that way... because Our Lord warned that... "even the elect will be deceived."

We are far more likely to be deceived if we have reduced Revelations to a "play book." It's not. It's primarily a big overview of the ultimate battle between good and evil. The message: Do not fear. In the end, God wins. Stay close to God and live His teachings your entire life and you will not be deceived.

We must step back and try to see the bigger picture God is trying to reveal/teach us in Revelations (and the other apocalyptic scripture) re: 1000s of years of Salvation History and try not get too constricted and confined by specific words and numbers. God dictated Revelations in allegorical form for a reason. He could have chosen to be very direct... but He did not. We need to respect God's decision to be cryptic in this.

Also, today the descendants of those 12 (or 10) Tribes likely include 100s of millions, more like billions of ... us... worldwide.

My understanding is that God chooses 12,000 Jews from each tribe. He basically elects them to salvation as is his prerogative. They are saved, sealed, and believe in Jesus Christ.

The 12 tribes of Judah were not Jews. Jews aren't even mentioned in the Bible. Jews were a nomadic people and were the petty criminals of the day. That's why the Roman's called Jesus the Kind of the Jews, to connect him with criminals.

Agreed.

Still, IMO, the number 144k is not necessarily literal but most likely a number given to us so we can understand that the number of the faithful, during those dreadful times, will be a relatively small number.

And, I agree with you. I don't believe that 144k number includes exclusively "Jews" as we define/understand a person to be "Jewish" today.

we will definitely be revisiting masks, social distancing, isolation...and probably sooner than later.

once delta plus has been pushed sufficiently by the mRNA and then again by the "booster"..you can predict with accuracy that other mutations will select...features that might cause the entire c19 virus to become novel to humans all over again.

Whether ones immune system is overcome from exposure to the SARS COVID-19 virus or any of its variants is dependent on four things (for the most part): a) titer (concentration) of the antigen b) time/duration of the exposure c) antigenic exposure of the target tissue (cell membrane and the appropriate receptor proteins) d) the host innate immunogenic response to the viral antigens.

Masks for the great part are of little to no consequence in the above as the variables regarding type, material type, correct usage and effectiveness against viral particles of this size are too great to be accurately assessed in a statistically meaningful way.

From what I understand from high school science is you want your body to be exposed to bacteria and viruses as it is designed to fight them off (God created you). The five kingdoms (bacteria, virus, fungi, plants, animals) of life have been living and surviving for millions of years.

Stay healthy! Wash your hands, don't be afraid.

regitiger October 4, 2021 1:02 am

Reply to ncxplant

yes, is the simple answer....but its a little more complicated as the c19 virus is pressured by the mRNA group, mutations will select a higher affinity for transmissibility. This is one known prediction. The other prediction is that there is a high potential the mRNA will pressure the c19 to select for new features also....Such as the potential to target other cells for replication beyond just the one, ace2 receptor. This latter prediction is very worrisome, and yet the chances cannot be measured. We do not know how the mRNA vaccine will operate at scale over dwell time. But we have some anecdotal evidence, simply by examining HOW GAIN OF FUNCTION PPP virus experiments operate. In the lab, the entire mission is to pressure a virus to select higher transmission and pathogenicity. There are dozens of successful experiments that concluded in producing auto-immune GOF chimeras from otherwise mundane and rather harmless virus. So there is the possibility.

what does this mean to the trajectory of c19? What does it mean for the unvaxxed?

first q: it means c19 is likely than not to continue mutating for higher and higher transmission capability. And this means there is a very good chance it will also take on new features to target multi cells for replication. This would then become a NEW AND NOVEL Virus all over again. Of which No One would have any prior immune memory. Not good. but worse than novel, a virus that alters DURING a pandemic, with billions of people already exposed and with less than optimal immune health due to the existing constant exposure and pressure of the virus to the human body at large. Being that mRNA trains the quota limit of the human immune response to c19 spike proteins that are no longer in circulation, this means the vaxxed group will be at highest risk of severity and death.

second q: while the unvaxed, presuming prior exposure and immune response has been furnished and remains durable, are less likely to be at risk versus the vaxxed, the reality is that this will be a temporary condition....If the virus acquires a significant transmissibility factor, this means the potential viral load factor goes up. What the body could defend against at smaller viral loads might break down under the assault of a large viral threat. Viral load and transmissibility are positively correlated with c19. (and almost all other viruses studied)...If the c19 gains new functions such as a multi-cell targeting capability, unvaxxed will be faced with a novel virus.

my prediction is that the vaxxed group will experience the most risks due to the mRNA..and that is not counting the damage from the mRNA directly. It's very likely the combination of illness and less than optimal effects the mRNA vax has PLUS the c19 variants it will pressure to achieve, will have an overwhelming deleterious health effect on the vaxxed. The unvaxxed will not have this additional delimit, and will probably have a much higher odds of beating back the newer mutations. But if the c19 does acquire new multi cell targeting...that really changes everything. Predictions are useless as we have no data to show what happens when a sars like pandemic goes auto-immune. But we have anecdotal evidence how that might shape out. Again, we need only to observe the details of the line passage GOF PPP experiments to get some ideas. HIV/AIDS is a real world lesson in auto-immune virusa virus that continues to kill millions and has never really stopped killing...a virus that achieved multi-cell capability.

I don't think so. Their immune systems will recognize and fight the Covid variants. But if the spike proteins mutate, and those with natural immunity are exposed to only the mutated spike proteins shed by the vaxxed people, that is brand-new territory.

How will natural immunity react to shedded spikes that are altered?

Will natural immunity recognize these altered, shedded spikes, without any of the other viral components? And if not, can those spikes evolve to be more lethal to UNvaxxed?

Who knows?

I feel so very sorry for the people who replaced their God-given immune systems. This is not looking good for them. I am so grateful for my God-given immune system, and for those courageous doctors who prescribed my Ivermectin. May God's grace save us all.

Makes sense in the goal held by Gates, Fauci, Pelosi, Biden, et al, which places the value of scabies above human life, their Save the Planet crap. They couldn't control the weather above a manhole cover!

So ... "Let's get rid of people," they cheered.

And ignorantly or fear-filled, people knelt before them for masks & lockdowns, knowing all along nothing really that cataclysmic was going on around the world.

So they took the vax, & another, & await or have had another & in so doing killed the most incredible pathogenic destroyer ever: Their irreplaceable, innate immune systems.

Those vaxed need to be locked down, travel restricted, jobless, to save those who have protected their own natural immune systems. And very possibly, saved humanity.

You condemn the genocidists for cheering to get rid of people... and turn around and do the same thing in your last paragraph.

I don't think it's condemnation. The vaxxed should isolate for their own safety. I would.

Unlike those whose natural immune systems are intact, the vaxxed may be exposed to harmful variants, either by other vaxxed people or by unvaxxed people. And it looks like any new exposures may be lethal to them.

You do realize the numbers game here, right?

IF 85% of the population is fully vaxxed, and 63% of deaths were from the full vaxxed, you are seeing 22% more deaths from unvaxxed. Just sayin.

Right now, if govt numbers are to be believed, here in PA we are recording zero to 50 COVID deaths per day in a state of 35 million people. Hospital cases remain low and number of fully vaxxed increases everyday. So far, doesn't seem like a crisis.

if zero people took the mRNA yes.

but that view doesn't include a fact reality.

the c19 error checking mechanism is very poor...so poor it will select new "skills" with just the slightest pressure.

faced with only the natural immune pressure, the c19 would have still mutated, albeit at a much slower "pace".

the mRNA is like an accelerant for an arson. You want to fire to consume everything and rapidly, you throw some gas on the fire. the fire would eventually collapse the building...but you can guarantee it with a much faster effect with the gas.

The real danger is not only the mRNA enhancer/accelerant. A point that I should take more time to elaborate.

the c19 was given all the skills necessary to achieve bioweapon. Even without a mRNA enhancer.

the enhancement mRNA was tooled in a coordinated matched design with the engineered c19 virus as a one two punch bioweapon. One gets the fire started. The other makes it melt steel and ruin everything.

it's a moot point, however, given that mRNA has now been delivered to such an incredibly high number in the global human pool.

notice there are no international travel restrictions anymore.

none of these facts are trivial. It is a coordinated conspiracy to kill as many people as possible AND to concentrate power unchallenged as fast as possible.

these corruptors are not messing around.

Satan is pleased.

It is ingenious isn't it ?

Create a fake plague , then create a " vaccine " that wipes out all immunity to every bug on earth.

I think they have just injected you with a new form of HIV/AIDS.
What THEY couldn't get the sheep to do through irresponsible sexual liasions,they did it through fear.
Quite devilishly brilliant.

We in Australia are familiar with this tactic. The islamic bombers attacked a hotel bar in Bali (Indonesia) full of “infidel tourists”. 19 years ago (this month) a suicide bomber went to the back of the bar and exploded a small backpack killing some 12 victims. The anticipated “panic and flight” reaction meant the remaining people at the hotel ran outside into the street where a van loaded with explosives was detonated. A planned massacre; 202 victims. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/2002_Bali_bombings

What I am seeing around the web is that more and doctors are seeing the extreme danger the mRNA “vaccines” present to the immune system of millions (of all age groups now – they are pushing it onto the children for some mad reason). Ghouls.

Dr Zelenko had it right since last March. Every patient, within the first 3 days of symptoms, received early therapeutics. Out of his 6,000 patients, 2-3 died. And those who cleared Covid-19 infections achieved natural immunity. Had that been the norm, we would have achieved true herd immunity, keeping the high-risk safe from exposure.

Dr. Zelenko is not only a great human being and a doctor, he is a very wise man. His medical knowledge and his faith see the truth of this virus and vaccine that it is being used as a bioweapon upon humanity.

We can't even test or identify the "variant". We are so gullible.

Viruses mutate, regardless of vaxes, sometimes because of them. We simply have not seen an uptick in hospitalizations or deaths in the past 9 months.

And now children ages 5-11 will be vaxxed come November. This blurb from the AARP newsletter headlined: Will Kids get a Covid 19 vaccine before the Holidays? "Over 28 million children ages 5 to 11 would be eligible for the vaccine if it's authorized this fall, and about one-third of parents say they plan to vaccinate their child as soon as it's available, according to a new Kaiser Family Foundation report...."

I would keep my children away from the grandparents for fear the elderly will give covid to the grandkids. You can't make this crap up!!

71000 of the vaccinated were over 50 while only 8000 of the unvaccinated were over 50. That's the reason there were more deaths in the vaccinated group.

 1 ReplyFenku  October 4, 2021 7:10 am Reply to James Watson

yes, they are the elderly, but the known unknown here is that they were also the first cohort to receive the vaccine. there may well be a time factor before the internal bomb goes off, or it could be that they have become so vulnerable to any and all pathogens that are circulating more freely during the damper months.

 0 ReplyJustMe  October 4, 2021 8:39 am Reply to James Watson

I noticed that as well, James.

The numbers at the top of this thread reveal that 0.05% of the unvaccinated who were <50 years old died. Same for the vaccinated in that age group. No difference for the "youngsters".

However, for those over 50, 6.9% of the unvaccinated died whereas only 2.2% of the older group who were vaccinated died.

The main claim is extremely misleading. Based upon only this information, I would say that the vaccinations are helping older folks survive better.

This article is talking about antibody-dependent enhancement and original antigenic sin, without actually saying those things and saying things that are slightly incorrect. Antibody dependent enhancement is when specific antibodies are 'suboptimally bound' to the new variants' spike protein, then the antibodies are 'shaken off' inside of the macrophages, allowing the variant to effectively hijack (infect) macrophages' ribosomes and proliferate. In other words, the specific antibodies designed for the original acted as a trojan horse, allowing the variant the ability to hijack the immune system; and the reason that the immune system doesn't respond 'newly' to the variant is because of original antigenic sin—meaning that the immune system is going to keep making the first antibodies for the first sars-cov2 it sees.

This is the folly of making a single monoculture 'specific' antibody for a single variant...it locks the immune system into essentially a contract for fighting only that one threat.

It's also why NATURALLY ACQUIRED IMMUNITY is superior protection—because the immune system will make non-specific antibodies that attack more than one pathogenic domain—multiple types of antibodies for one pathogen. Original antigenic sin still applies, but the immune system has more tricks than one up its sleeves.

Adaptation happens in both scenarios, but ADE can kill the host much faster than naturally-acquired. That is why what they've done with these vaccines is actually mass murder in my book. They knew about this concept before they started making this particular vaccine. There can be no mens rea argument to protect them from 'knowingly' (magic legal word) being culpable

SD wrote..."...Among vaccinated individuals, a COVID variant virus is not recognized by the specialized [antibodies] provided by the vaccine, and the natural antibodies have been programmed to stand down."

Here, the "vaccine" mRNA that is injected (in non-mucosal tissue) produces a ribosomal transcript of the S-protein that is theoretically intended to serve as an ANTIGEN. The antigen is what produces the antibody response, normally.

REGENERON contains purified monoclonal Antibodies to both the N- and S- viral epitopes (at least in their write-ups), thereby presumably giving some neutralizing actions to the virus. That's IF you don't already have polyclonal antibodies with at least some affinity to corona N- and S- epitopes (which you probably have to some degree). If you do have polyclonals with partial recognition, the regeron might not do anything...it just depends. YMMV.

Fauci killed hundreds of thousands in the 80's and 90's with AIDS, now he's been given a second run with his covid invention, which is AIDS based- the vax defeats the immune system of anyone who gets it. The timeline and US patent evidence was posted on the 29th on politicalmoonshine.

Again, this was entirely predictable.....the concept is called 'original antigenic sin'and it's not jus a concept.

Everything that has happened since late 2019/early 2020 has been entirely predictable.....either there's a whole lot of stupid people directing things.....or its been completely intentional.....I'm thinking some of each.

If you're unfamiliar with 'original antigenic sin', a reference follows....

Notice, too, that nearly all the deaths are “over 50”. We can infer most of those are people in their 70’s, 80’s, and 90’s; and that the deaths under 50 are probably all people with comorbidities. High risk remains high risk, vaccinated or not.

All you need to know is Ivermectin wiped out Covid in all 33 provinces of Uttar Pradesh it was distributed, wiped it out as in GONE see ya, covid, what covid?? count em’ over 231 MILLION people who will never need a booster nor to turn their immune system into a life long subscription (or die) plan every time they come up against a new strain.

Ted Nugent was right when he addressed the jabbed in their language stating the following – “Baaaaahhhhhh....bahhhh baaaaah aahhhh” newsflash! the CDC FDA and US Government are NOT your friend and don’t give an (expletive) if you live or die, sadly same is true of the hospitals who would rather fire health care workers who have obviously all been exposed to and are now immune to covid after 19 months day in and day out all because they wont take the stab they have no need for ,hint (in a REAL pandemic you don’t fire health care professionals for not taking a medical procedure they do not need and which would make their immune systems weaker NOT stronger), Covid isn’t killing patients, RemDEATHvir (sic) Intubation and Ventilators are , all for the almighty CHA CHING!

if you had a 0.03% chance of dying from cancer sometime in the next 50 years would you start taking Chemotherapy treatments? No? then why in Gods name would you take the jab ?

The long term impacts of antibody dependency are unknown.
I'm sorry, but this is not correct. It is well known – every animal trial ended in mass death of the test subjects. That's why we have no coronavirus vaccine, none has ever gotten out of animal trials. Will this human trial end the same way? Well, I guess we're going to find out.

I am not going to avoid the vaxxed. There are members of my extended family, who trusted the government, who got the vax. The majority of us are not vaxxed. We are going to live our lives, come what may. Just sayin.

Also, I am very sad that Israel's government pushed the vax so hard.

Also, I could care less if the study is not peer reviewed. The peer review process has become corrupted.
